

Jerrold Dinkels, PE, Joins as Director, Program & Construction Management of AFG's New York Office

Herndon, VA, January 27, 2016: AFG Group, Inc. (AFG), is pleased to announce that Jerrold Dinkels has joined the firm as Director, Program & Construction Management in the firm's New York City office. Dinkels brings over 45 years of professional experience in the planning, design, and construction of major public facility, transportation and infrastructure projects throughout the New York and New Jersey region.

Jerrold holds a Bachelors of Civil Engineering from the City College of New York, and is a registered Professional Engineer in New York and New Jersey. Prior to joining AFG, he held several senior-level positions with prominent engineering firms and New York City/New Jersey public agencies. Dinkels was involved in several of the region's foremost infrastructure redevelopments such as the World Trade Center, PATH Rail System Capital Construction Program, the New York Airport Access Program, and the JFK Redevelopment Program.

"Jerry brings to AFG an extensive array of technical, project management and executive experience, serving as both a consultant and a public owner. This, coupled with his dedication and success on large-scale construction programs, will be paramount to AFG's continued growth within our New York, New Jersey and Northeastern Operations. We are proud to have him as part of the team," said AFG President Michael H. O'Connor.
